XD,

Read out from our call today with (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) members.

Harvard Call Summary:

On (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) CBP HQ, facilitated a call between the Boston Field Office and (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) staff regarding concerns surrounding the refusal of travelers who were attending (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) as students. CBP management began by explaining that CBP has a complex mission at our ports of entry to deter and prevent terrorist and terrorist weapons, prevent illicit drugs, agricultural pests, and contraband while facilitating and expediting the flow of legitimate travelers and trade. It was explained that in order to do this, everyone who arrives at a US port of entry is subject to inspection. During the primary process, the CBP officer will ask questions such as citizenship, purpose of trip, declaration and that fingerprints and photos would be taken. When determination of immigration status is unable to be accomplished by the primary officer and is subject to further review or if the traveler is applying for an immigration benefit, then they will be sent to secondary. It was emphasized and explained that applicants for admission bear the burden of proof to establish that they are clearly eligible to enter the United States and that in order to demonstrate that they are admissible, they applicant must overcome all grounds of inadmissibility. The grounds of inadmissibility were generally outlined into major categories including health related, prior criminal convictions, security reasons, public charge, illegal entrants and immigration violations, documentation requirements, and miscellaneous grounds. Area Port Director (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) then explained processing specific to the Boston Logan International Airport. She also explained that when an individual is granted a visa, it only allows them to apply for admission, and that the visa does not guarantee admission into the United States. She explained that students are sent to admissibility secondary to review their SEVIS package, status, and baggage examination. Based on the totality of the inspection, a decision is made by the officer if the applicant is admissible or inadmissible. If inadmissible, they may choose to withdraw their application and return once they have the proper documentation. If it is determined that they are not admissible, based on certain factors, they may be subject to an Expedited Removal.

(b)(6)(b)(7)(C) officials explained that over the past 18 months, 4 students have been denied entry within the Boston Field Office. They asked what percentage of the other agency reviews do we take into account when determining whether a person can enter the US (i.e. DoS review during visa application). It was explained that the State Department information is taken into account, but the information is only as good as what the student provides during the visa interview and application process. On occasion during the course of the CBP inspection upon arrival information that was provided to DOS in order to obtain the visa found to be was inaccurate or false. (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) asked if the students are provided the reason for denial into the country and if it is on the documentation that they are provided. It was explained that anyone who is denied entry is told the reason and given a copy of the sworn statement. (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) then questioned whether or not the “7A1 charge - intended immigrant” was a catch all phrase. They said this was new to them and in the last 18 months they had never seen it used. They stated that they understood if it was a national security related denial; however, the paperwork only states “7A1 intended immigrant” and if there was any way to find out and asked if they could assist CBP with determining whether or not an applicant is indeed a student at (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) We explained that there are multiple reviews on determining if an applicant is inadmissible and that CBP

Boston currently conducts outreach with International Student Advisors at numerous universities, to include (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) asked if we use a 7A charge if it is a national security issue. We explained that if the applicant does not demonstrate that they are clearly eligible to enter the United States, then a 7A charge among other charges may be used. (b)(7)(E)

(b)(6)(b)(7)(C) asked if they could be notified in advance of a student being sent back to foreign as part of our protocol when these cases occur. This would be on top of the safe notification notices and third party calls that are already made at the request of the applicant of admission. We replied that if the applicant for admission requested we contact the university as part on their behalf under normal notification procedures we could do it, however, it would be up to the applicant. (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) replied that the notification for all recent cases was good except for the latest one in which they were not notified until the next morning. A review of the case indicated that the port contacted a “friend” of the subject at her request.

We asked for their assistance with messaging to their J1s/research personnel to declare their biological items and to obtain proper documentation from other agencies prior to entering the US. Information was provided on how to obtain requirements. (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) stated that if one of their researchers did not declare those types of items, that they wouldn’t question our decision on those types of incidents. They then asked what would be helpful for them to tell the students about social media. We said to be open and honest when questioned by a CBP officer. They also asked if all students were given the option to withdraw their application. It was explained that not all applicants are offered that option. If we encounter grounds that warrant expedited removal, then that is the course of action taken.

CBP reiterated that we do not take these decisions lightly. We understand that these decisions are life changing and explained why we have multiple review processes in place. (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) was thankful for the open communication and asked for specific points of contact, which will be provided. We agreed to contact them when needed. They will be participating in the next port tour at Boston Logan next week intended for International Student Advisors.

Update:

On Monday (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) CBP at Boston Logan Airport received phone calls from Senator Edward Markey's office and Representative Joseph Kennedy regarding the refusal of (b)(6)(b)(7)(C)

Senator Markey's office stated that they were calling on behalf of (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) and were informed that the (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) was not admissible to the United States and that further inquiries would have to be run through the CBP Office of Congressional Affairs (OCA).

Representative Kennedy called himself and the first time he was provided the standard response that (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) was not admissible to United States and that further inquiries would have to be run through the CBP OCA. Rep. Kennedy apologized and stated that he was called by (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) and was under the impression that (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) was already in the United States and taken into custody.

(b)(6)(b)(7)(C), (b)(7)(E)

On (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) during standard case processing at (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) request the Iranian Consulate was notified of his refusal.

On (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) requested that CBP call his roommate to advise that he would not be arriving and the phone call was completed.

On (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) requested that his father be notified and advised of his outbound flight details and this phone call was completed.

(b)(6)(b)(7)(C) remains in CBP Custody at Logan Airport and is scheduled to depart Boston Logan Airport bound for Paris at 2100 on Monday (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) aboard Air France 333

Update 3:

The protest at Logan Airport grew to approximately 25-50 individuals.

(b)(7)(E)

Immigration attorneys on site at Logan Airport presented CBP with a document requesting a Writ of Habeas Corpus to have (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) released from custody.

CBP OCC engaged the U.S. Attorney's Office and determined that although the Writ of Habeas Corpus was filed with the court, the court did not issue any order or notice to CBP barring the agency from removing (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) ABADI.

(b)(6)(b)(7)(C) was escorted to the departure gate and boarded on Air France flight 333.

Air France flight 333 pushed back at 2134 hours. The flight was wheels up at 2156 hours destined to Paris, France with (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) on board.

The story has gained local media attention with multiple TV outlets and social media sites incorrectly reporting that (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) was not removed and will be in court tomorrow.

During the course of the protest the participants remained peaceful and no issues were encountered.

Senator Edward Markey along with members of his staff contacted CBP and was provided with the standard response and advised that (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) had departed the United States.

Senator Elizabeth Warren or her office has not contacted CBP directly (b)(7)(E)

Update 2:

A small protest with (b)(6)(b)(7)(C) lawyer and approximately 10 individuals is currently under way in the public arrivals area outside the CBP FIS exit doors at Logan Airport.

(b)(7)(E)

Local news media is on site filming the area outside the CBP FIS and has contacted CBP CMO for a statement.

The CBP CMO for the Boston Field Office is on site at Logan and is handling all media inquiries.

I want to take your sworn statement regarding your application for admission to the United States. Before I take your statement, I also want to explain your rights, and the purpose and consequences of this interview.

You do not appear to be admissible or to have the required legal papers authorizing your admission to the United States. This may result in your being denied admission and immediately returned to your home country without a hearing. If a decision is made to refuse your admission into the United States, you may be immediately removed from this country, and if so, you may be barred from reentry for a period of 5 years or longer.

If you fear or have a concern about being removed from the United States or about being sent home, you should tell me so during this interview because you may not have another chance. You will have the opportunity to speak privately and confidentially to another officer about your fear or concern. That officer will determine if you should remain in the United States and not be removed because of that fear.

Until a decision is reached in your case, you will remain in the custody of the Department of Homeland Security.
