End of Discretionary Parole of Nationals of the Russian Federation into Guam and/or Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands

Beginning October 3, 2019 nationals from the Russian Federation will no longer be eligible under the discretionary parole policy to travel to Guam and/or Commonwealth of Northern Mariana Islands (CNMI) for the purpose of temporary visit for business or pleasure without a visa. Russian nationals must obtain the appropriate non-immigrant visa to visit Guam and/or CNMI for business or pleasure.

This bulletin supersedes the information published in the latest CBP Carrier Information Guide February 2019 edition.
